

TechShop, which relocated its original Menlo Park location to San Carlos last year, is searching for another new site on the Peninsula before its current building is demolished.

read full article